

Juan Carlos Arriola
Technical Specialist, Milling Technology

---

Juan Carlos Arriola joined Cigi in 2012 and holds the position of Technical Specialist in the Milling Technology Department. He began his milling career when studying industrial engineering in Guatemala and since 1999 has served as plant superintendent, head miller, and production manager in several plants in Guatemala and Dominican Republic. Prior to joining Cigi, he was Production Manager at Molinos del Higuamo in San Pedro de Macoris, Dominican Republic. Juan Carlos is a graduate of the Swiss School of Milling in St. Gallen, Switzerland and received milling training at the Buhler training centre in Uzwil, Switzerland.

Rosa Boyd
Technician, Baking Technology

---

Rosa Boyd joined CIGI in 2009 and holds the position of Technician in the Test Bakery's Baking Technology department. Job activities include small scale test baking and analysis of different wheat flours varieties and crop, and participating in technical demonstrations. She holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Nutritional Science from the University of Manitoba. Previous to joining CIGI, Rosa was a research assistant at the Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada Cereal Research Centre and the Richardson Centre for Functional Foods and Nutraceuticals in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Yvonne Supeene
Head, Baking Technology

---

Yvonne Supeene joined Cigi in 1990 and currently holds the position of Head, Baking Technology. Her activities include technical demonstrations and investigative studies related to commercial processes specializing in bread production. She has traveled extensively throughout the world acquiring international baking expertise and advises on baking-related technical concerns around the world. Prior to joining Cigi, Yvonne worked for 10 years in the bakery department at Westfair Foods, a large commercial bakery in Winnipeg, where she became bakery manager. Yvonne completed her studies in commercial baking at Red River Community College and is also a graduate from the American Institute of Baking, Manhattan, KS.